London, February 8.

His Majesty having last Week caus'd the Papers of Count Gyllemberg the Swedish Minister to be seiz'd, and a Guard set upon his Person; Mr. Secretary Stanhope sent the following Letter to the Foreign Ministers.

Copy of the Letter from the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Stanhope to the Foreign Ministers, the first of Feb. O. S. 1716-17.

SIR,

THE King having received repeated Advices, and uncontestable Proofs, of many very dangerous Practices which have been carried on and manag'd for some time past by the Count de Gyllemberg, Minister of the King of Sweden here, and which clearly tended to foment in his Majesty's Dominions a Rebellion of his own Subjects, which was to be supported by Foreign Troops; and the said Count, having by such Conduct of his, violated the publick Faith, and render'd himself unworthy of that Protection, which otherwise he ought to have enjoy'd by the Law of Nations, and by the Privileges due to his Character; his Majesty, to put an End to such dangerous Practices, and preserve the Peace and Tranquility of his Dominions, has judg'd that it is absolutely necessary to cause the said Count de Gyllemberg to be seiz'd, and to possess himself of all his Papers, by which, the pernicious Intrigues and Secrets he has been engag'd in will appear to all the World, and sufficiently justifie the Measures his Majesty has thought fit to take. I doubt not, but the King will in a little time order me to inform you more fully of the Reasons which have induc'd his Majesty to take this Resolution. But in the mean time, I am charg'd to communicate to you by his Order, that which is done already, to the end you may give the same to your Court; his Majesty no way doubting but that when your Master shall be fully inform'd of the said Count's Behaviour, he will be entirely convinced, that not only the Peace and Tranquility of his Majesty's Dominions, but likewise the Repose of Europe, and the Security of the present Alliances, have render'd this Procedure indispensably necessary. I am with great Esteem,

SIR,

Whitehall, Feb. 1716-17.

Your most humble, and most obedient Servant,
J. Stanhope.

Copie de la Lettre de Mr. Stanhope, Secretaire d'Etat le premier, Fevrier, V. S. 1716-17.

Monsieur,

LE Roy ayant receu des avis reiterés & ayant des preuves incontestables de plusieurs Pratiques tres dangereuses, qui ônt été menagées & conduites depuis quelque tems par le Compte de Gyllemberg, Ministre du Roy de Suede ici, & qui tendoient clairement a fomenter dans les Etats de sa Majesté une Rebellion de ses propres Sujets, qui devoit être soutenue par des Troupes étrangeres, & ce Comte ayant par une telle Conduite violé la Foy publique, & s'étant rendu indigne de la Protection dont autrement il devoit joüir par le droit des gens, & des Privileges dûs à son Caractere; Sa Majesté pour mettre fin à des Pratiques pernicieuses, & pour la Conservation de la Paix, & de la Tranquilité de ses Etats, a jugé qu'il étoit absolument nécéssaire de faire saisir le dit Comte de Gyllemberg, & de s'assurer de tous ses Papiers, par les quels, les Intrigues pernicieuses dans les quelles il a été engagé paroitront à tout le monde, & justifieront autisamment la Demarche que sa Majesté a trouvé bon de faire. Je ne doubte point que le Roy dans peu m'ordonne de vous informer plus amplement des Raisons qui ont porte sa Majesté a prendre cette Resolution. Mais en attendant, je suis chargé de vous communiquer par son Ordre, ce qui est passé afin que vous en puissiez donner part a votre Cour; Sa Majesté ne doutant nullement, que quand votre Maitre sera pleinement informé du Procedé de ce Comte, il ne soit entierement convaincu, que non seulement la Paix & la Tranquilité des Etats de sa Majesté, mais aussi le Repos de l'Europe, & la Surete des Alliances presentes ont rendu cette demarche indispensablement necessaire. Je suis avec beaucoup d'Estime,

Monsieur,

A Whitehall, le premier Fevrier, 1716-17.

Votre tres humble, & tres obeissant Serviteur,
J. Stanhope.

London, February 8.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

From the Amst. Cour. dated Feb. 13.

Verona, Jan. 29. We hear by Letters from Verona, that the Bavarian Princes being arriv'd there the 25th set forward the 20th for Mantua, in their Journey to Rome. We received Letters from our Fleet of Tuesday, with Advice that it is in good Order, and all things are preparing for the next Campaign, and that they continue to work hard upon the Fortifications of S. Maura, Corfu, &c. The same Letters add, that they had Advice, that the Turkish Fleet sailed to Constantinople, was overtaken by a violent Storm, whereby two Sultana's, 20 large Men of War were cast away; at the same time, another took Fire by Accident, and blew up, and several Gallies were shipwreck'd, but the Men sav'd, and that at Constantinople, there is a great Mortality.

Warsaw, Jan. 30. On Saturday the Confederates held a Conference, and their Marshal took Leave of all the Deputies, declaring, that if in Course of time all things don't happen for the best, he was not the Cause of it, having done all that he thought proper for the publick Good. The Deputies gave the Marshal Thanks for the good Advice and Stedfastness of their Counsel, which he had given them, and the Marshal returned them his thanks. They then resolv'd to quit the City on Monday, and come hither to make their Remonstrances to the King: But notwithstanding this, some Difficulties remain, chiefly upon the Alterations that are made in the Polish and Lithuanian Troops, General and other Officers being already remov'd, and others put in their Places. The Prussian Minister declares, that he shall make a solemn Protestation before the Mediator Prince Dolhorucki, in his Master's Name, against the Injury done by this Treaty to the Evangelicks and Reformed. The Russians still continue, not only to levy Provisions, but also a Contribution of Kitchen on every Chimney, and demand that 25 Florins be paid them next Month, and there is little Reason they intend soon to depart. We just now hear that the Marshal of the late Confederacy will be this Day, that the Treaty will be forthwith confirmed by the General Diet, and that the Exchange of the Ratifications is made.

Vienna, Feb. 1. By this Day's Post Circular Letters are come concerning the Departure of the Saxons, the Manner of which will be here made publick.

Leipsic, Feb. 2. The Treaty being now finally concluded, the Saxon General Beuditz will break up to Day, and General Milkau on Sunday, and march to the Misnian Territory, where all the Saxons are to rendezvous, and return to their own Country.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Feb. 11.

Saint Jaysen, Jan. 27. We hear from Avignon, that the Queen Dowager's Confessor having been at Modena and Rome, is returned thither with Advice, that Cardinal de la Tremouille, having received an Express the 29th from France, immediately demanded Audience of the Pope, but was told, that he must acquaint first to the Cardinal Patron what he had to say; whereupon he roundly told the Cardinal Patron, that he had Orders to depart from Rome, if he could not have Audience of his Holiness. This Declaration made the Pope alter his Stile, and he had Audience the 2d of January; that he strenuously insisted upon the Pretender's Departure from Avignon, and but afterwards he talk'd in smarter Terms, and not without Threats, to the Cardinals Albani, Paolucci, and Gualtieri. The Pretender is impatient to know the Consequence, but all the Confessor could tell him was, that he understood a Resolution was to be taken the 30th, and an Answer be given thereupon to Cardinal de la Tremouille, but he could not carry so long at Rome to hear it; but judged by what he learn'd there, that in all Appearance the Papal Court would not much longer resist the Desires of France. In the mean time no Answer is given at Avignon to the French Lieutenant General Dillon, nor was like to be, till they heard from Rome. But 'twas observable, that this Lieutenant never address'd himself at all to the Pretender, but to the Pope's Vice-Legate, who is Governour of that Town. However he talk'd with the late Earl of Mar, and other of the Pretender's Friends, and plainly let them know, that it would be best for them to depart thence very soon.
